

Christina Skasa

Christina Skasa, Senior Project Editor, works with staff across the firm to produce high-quality, compelling written materials, including business proposals and client reports, sales presentations, white papers, case studies, marketing collaterals, and web site content.

Prior to joining GG+A, Christina worked as a proposal writer and editor in both the private and nonprofit sectors for organizations in Wisconsin, including an educational software company, farm animal sanctuary, and technical college. She has also applied her skills as a writing tutor and lecturer at several University of Wisconsin campuses. Most recently, she completed an internship with the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (MSPCA) in their legislative advocacy department. Here she had the opportunity to conduct research, provide written and oral testimony, draft social media posts, and support the organization's attorneys in their work to increase protection for all animals in Massachusetts. Christina continues to volunteer her writing and editing skills to animal advocacy organizations and has a particular interest in farm animal and wildlife protection.

Christina holds a Bachelor of Arts in English Literature from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, a Master of Library and Information Science from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, a Master of Arts with an emphasis in scientific and technical writing from the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, and a Master of Science in Anthrozoology from Canisius College.
